Ireland abolishes abortion laws in 'quiet revolution'

REUTERS
Dublin, May 26

IRELAND HAS VOTED by a landslide to liberalise some of the world's most restrictive abortion laws in what its prime minister described as the culmination of a "quiet revolution" in what was one of the most socially conservative countries in Europe.

Voters in the once deeply Catholic nation were estimated to have backed the change by more than two-to-one. The government plans to bring in legislation by the end of the year.

"It's incredible. For all the years and years we've been trying to look after women and not been able to look after women, this means everything," said Mary Higgins, obstetrician and Together For Yes campaigner.

After official results began to be announced on Saturday, politicians

Women celebrate the result of the referendum on liberalising abortion law, in Dublin, Ireland on both sides agreed that the referendum had passed by a large margin. "The public have spoken. The result appears to be resounding in favour of repealing the 8th Amendment" constitutional ban on abortion, Prime Minister Leo Varadkar, who campaigned for repeal, told journalists in Dublin.

"What we see is the culmination of a quiet revolution that has been taking place in Ireland over the last couple of decades," said Varadkar, who became the country's first openly gay prime minister last year.

If confirmed, the outcome will be the latest milestone on a path of change for a country which only legalised divorce by a razor thin majority in 1995 before becoming the first in the world to adopt gay marriage three years ago.

Sting claims 'pitch fixed' in India-SL Test; ICC starts probe

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, May 26

A TEST MATCH between India and Sri Lanka last year might have been played on a pitch doctored at the behest of match-fixers, a sting operation has claimed, prompting the International Cricket Council (ICC) to launch an investigation into the matter on Saturday.

The Al Jazeera television network claims that a well-known former Mumbai first-class cricketer Robin Morris, who is now allegedly a match-fixing, admitted to his involvement in bribing a groundsman at Galle last year to alter the pitch.

The sting operation is to be aired on Sunday but snippets of it have been posted online by the Qatar-based channel. Responding to the latest round of sensational allegations with regards to the integrity of the much-maligned sport, the ICC said it is investigating.

"We have already launched an investigation working with anti-corruption colleagues from member countries based on the limited information we have received," ICCGM (Anti Corruption Unit) Alex Marshall said in a statement.

"We have made repeated requests that all evidence and supporting materials relating to corruption in cricket is released immediately to enable us to undertake a full and comprehensive investigation."

Sri Lanka Cricket, on its part, said it would cooperate with the ICC and reiterated its 'zero tolerance' policy on corruption.

"Ashley De Silva, CEO of Sri Lanka Cricket is in contact with the CEO of the International Cricket Council Mr David Richardson...and will take immediate action against any person involved in the alleged incident, if found guilty," the SLC issued a statement.

"In the meantime, Sri Lanka Cricket is constantly engaged with the ICC and is following its guidelines on how to handle anti-corruption operations for the forthcoming tours in Sri Lanka."
